

We are growing! Here's our fuel for success

We ask the questions that move corporate recruiters forward. Then we continuously expand our business model to deliver the answers in the form of new services and additional features and add-ons within our comprehensive job advertising portfolio. For us, standing still is not an option at any time.

In order to provide solutions for every job advertising challenge today and in the future, and to further accelerate business growth, we are happy to welcome 10 new recruitment marketing experts to the VONQ team in June. But it is not only our team that is growing: we are proud to announce more renowned, globally leading companies rely on us for data-driven job marketing campaigns.

May we introduce: Our teams get thought-leader reinforcement

With the acquisition of IGB last year, we offer our customers the ideal product mix consisting of data-driven job advertising campaigns in the Job Marketing Platform, plus multi-posting and programmatic advertising in IGB's Job Post to manage thousands of vacancies with ease. However, we know that a company can only stay successful if it has the right people on board. That's why we're excited to introduce you to the new strategic minds of the VONQ team.

Welcome to VONQ Group!

Sander van Oyen, Sales Director VONQ / Managing Director IGB

With a Master's degree in technical business administration and more than 25 years of professional experience in recruitment, online media publishing and the SAAS industry, Sander will start as Sales Director at VONQ and Managing Director at IGB from August 1, 2021. Sander already proved his strategic and operational skills in the past as an entrepreneur and was most recently successful as Commercial Manager at Noordhoff.
